I enjoy doing many things. I like to draw, color, and dance. I most of all like to help others. I like to put smiles on the faces of my mom, my cousin, and my grandma.

I help my mom do things such as clean. Whenever we have a party, I help her. Most of the time she doesn't even ask me. I just feel like it is the least I can do. She does many things for me such as help me with homework, pay for my food and field trips, and loves me daily. She does these things for me because she loves me, and I can do these things for her to let her know that I love her too.

Although I like to help my mom, I like to help my cousin too. My cousin is very involved in her school. She helps work festivals and many other festivities. Sometimes she has jobs that she can't do by herself. One time she was going to work the Oktoberfest, but it was just her. She asked me to help her. I went and helped her fulfill all the needs of the customers.

Even though I like to help my cousin, I also like to help my grandma. One time I went to church with my aunt and my cousin. They go to the same church that my grandma goes to. My grandma is in a wheelchair so it can be hard for her to get places sometimes. I rolled her wheelchair into the church, and I saved her and my grandpa a lot of trouble.

I like to do many things, but I enjoy helping others. I helped my mom clean. I helped my cousin work the pop booth. I helped my grandma get into church. I have a good time doing things such as these. I hope that through my life I may be able to help hundreds and maybe even thousands of others.
